

Listen, Reflect & Exceed

eQIPd equips kindergartens, preschools, long day care and outside school hours care services with insights from their families and educators to inform continuous improvement. How? Via online, standardised and validated surveys designed around the National Quality Standards.

eQIPd works with hundreds of services across Australia, large and small.

Quality is underpinned by careful listening and engagement with families and educators - eQIPd makes this easy, and education and care services do better as a result.

QUALITY

eQIPd clients are more likely to be rated as "Exceeding the National Quality Standards" and more likely to improve their rating when next assessed compared to the rest of the sector.

INSIGHT

eQIPd's reports enable service leadership to pinpoint strengths and opportunities to improve in relation to the NQS. In this way, parents and educators contribute to quality improvement planning.

CONVENIENCE

Save time - eQIPd is your dedicated survey project manager, meaning you have time to focus on more important things.

"eQIPd is a great resource for the management and planning of our centre. It provides confidentiality for the parents to acknowledge educators and other aspects of their child's education and care, as well as a chance to request/suggest changes. I am particularly happy with how I can use this "outside" resource to acknowledge our educators and their part in our children's lives."

- Meredith, Little Gekos Early Learning Centre

About eQIPd

eQIPd exists to equip the education and care sector with insights to support quality. eQIPd has run surveys for services across Australia, supporting them on their quality improvement journeys. In addition, the founder, Felicity Dunn, supports approved providers, local government and other organisations in larger consultancy project specialising in early childhood policy.

Winner, City of Greater Geelong Clever & Creatives Pitch 2019

"eQIPd is hands down the best way to get inside the thoughts of your centre's families. Responses are anonymous so families feel safe to say what they really think. It is a fabulous way to make changes that families actually want and to be proud of what you are achieving. The end report is thorough and relates directly to all quality areas, which is perfect for establishing a new QIP."

- Amanda Reed, Little Paddington Early Learning Centre
